Europeanization in the Twentieth Century
Historical Approaches

Edited by
Martin Conway
Fellow and Tutor in History, Balliol College, University of Oxford and
Kiran Klaus Patel
Professor in Modern History, European University Institute, Florence
Contents

Preface
M. Conway and K.K. Patel vii

Series Foreword: ‘Europeanization’
R. Mitter and A. Ihie ix

Notes on Contributors xi

Europeanization in History: An Introduction
U. v. Hirschhausen and K.K. Patel 1

Part One Europe Imagined 19
1. Intellectual Dissidents and the Construction of European Spaces, 1918-1988
J. Wardhaugh, R. Leiserowitz and C. Bailey 21

2. ‘A Struggle for European Civilization’: T.S. Eliot and British Conceptions of Europe during and after the Second World War
J. Harris 44

3. Knowing Europe, Europeanizing Knowledge: The Making of ‘Homo Europaeus’ in the Life Sciences
V. Lipphardt 64

Part Two Europe Constructed 85
4. From Minority Protection to Border Revisionism: The European Nationality Congress, 1925-38
U. v. Hirschhausen 87

5. The Role of International Organizations in Europeanization: The Case of the League of Nations and the European Economic Community
P. Clavin and K.K. Patel 110

M. Conway and V. Depkat 132

7. Human Rights, the Memory of War and the Making of a ‘European’ Identity, 1945-75
T. Buchanan 157
8. Europeanization in the Monetary Sector, 1968–92
G. Thiemeyer

Part Three  Europe Emergent

9. Europeanization through Violence? War Experiences and the Making of Modern Europe
R. Gerwarth and S. Malinowski

10. Modernism, Modernization and Europeanization in West African Architecture, 1944–94
W. Whyte

11. ‘Die Briten kommen’. British Beat and the Conquest of Europe in the 1960s
J. Davis

12. ‘Nothing more cosmopolitan than the camps?’ Holocaust Remembrance and (de-)Europeanization
H. Grunwald

Conclusion
M. Conway

Index