

British Film Culture in the 1970s

The Boundaries of Pleasure

Sue Harper and Justin Smith

with

Dave Allen

Sian Barber

Peri Bradley

Laurie N. Ede

Laurel Foster

Vincent Porter

Sally Shaw

Edinburgh University Press

Contents

List of Illustrations	v
List of Tables	vi
Acknowledgements	vii
List of Contributors	ix
Introduction	1
Sue Harper and Justin Smith
PART I
1 Government Aid and Film Legislation: 'An elastoplast to stop a haemorrhage'	10
Sian Barber
2 British Film Censorship and the BBFC in the 1970s	22
Sian Barber
3 Moving Images and the Visual Arts in 1970s Britain	34
Dave Allen
4 British Film Design in the 1970s	50
Laurie N. Ede
5 Film Education during the 1970s	62
Vincent Porter
6 'Picking up the Tab' for the Whole Black Community?: Industrial, Social and Institutional Challenges as Exemplified in Babylon	75
Sally Shaw
7 1970s Television: A Self-conscious Decade	85
Laurel Forster
8 British Graffiti: Popular Music and Film in the 1970s	99
Dave Allen

PART II

Sue Harper and Justin Smith

9	Key Players	115
10	Boundaries and Taboos	138
11	Technology and Visual Style	155
12	Social Space	173
13	Cross-over	193
14	Audiences and Reception	208

	Conclusion	227
--	------------	-----

Sue Harper and Justin Smith

	Endnotes	233
--	----------	-----

Appendices

	Appendix I – Cinema Statistics, Box Office and Related Data	261
--	---	-----

Justin Smith

	Appendix II – Cinema-going at the Southampton Odeon: Exhibition Data and Popular Taste	275
--	---	-----

Sian Barber

	Appendix III – Top Films Shown at Portsmouth Cinemas, 1970–1979	282
--	--	-----

Peri Bradley

	Bibliography	285
--	--------------	-----

	Filmography	302
--	-------------	-----

	Index	314
--	-------	-----