Germany in the Loud Twentieth Century

An Introduction

Edited by Florence Feiereisen

and

Alexandra Merley Hill

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments ix
Contributors xi

Tuning in to the Aural Ether: An Introduction to the Study of German Sounds 1
Florence Feiereisen and Alexandra Merley Hill

SECTION ONE: New Sounds in the Twentieth Century: Sounds, Noise, Silence

1. Escaping the Urban Din: A Comparative Study of Theodor Lessing's Antilärmverein (1908) and Maximilian Negwer's Ohropax (1908) 19
John Goodyear
2. When Only the Ears Are Awake: Günter Eich and the Acoustical Unconscious 35
Robert G. Ryder

SECTION TWO: Defining Space through Sound: Battlefields and Concert Halls

3. The Sonic Mindedness of the Great War: Viewing History through Auditory Lenses 51
Yaron Jean
4. From Seat Cushions to Formulae: Understanding Spatial Acoustics in Physics and Architecture 63
Sabine Von Fischer

SECTION THREE: East and West: Sounds in the Shadow of the Wall

5. From the Boiler Room to the Hotel Room: Sound and Space in Wolfgang Hilbig's Das Provisorium (2000) 81
Curtis Swope
6. Berlin Sounds: Audible Cartography of a Formerly Divided City 95
Nicole Dietrich

SECTION FOUR: The Politics of Sound: Walls with Ears

7. Sound and Socialist Identity: Negotiating the Musical Soundscape in the Stalinist GDR 111
David Tompkins

8. Audibility Is a Trap: Aural Panopticon in The Lives of Others (2006) 125
Christiane Lenk

SECTION FIVE: Soundscapers of the Millennium: Sound Art and Music Sounds

9. Sound Art—New Only in Name: A Selected History of German Sound Works from the Last Century 141
Brett M. Van Hoesen and Jean-Paul Perrotte
10. Ghettos, Hoods, Blocks: The Sounds of German Space in Rap and Hip-Hop 157
Maria Stehle

Select Bibliography and Further Readings 175
Index 179

Bonus track online at www.oup.com/us/GermanyintheLoud20thCentury